REACH - Guide Line 1907 / 2006 / EC

(published in accordance with Article 59 (10) of the REACH Regulation)

Dear Sirs,

According to REACH guideline the company Grothe as a manufacturer in the field of house communication and signalisation products is classified a so called "downstream user". As a "downstream user" Grothe is not subject to any registration duties regarding REACH.

All products you may receive from Grothe are not subject to a registration regarding the REACH declaration. The potentially contained obligatory materials in our product range have to be declared and registered by our pre-supplier only!

On your behalf and in order to guaranty a high grade of product safety, Grothe pursuits the implementation of the REACH declaration very carefully. All our suppliers of chemical materials (lubricants for machines, glues, colours and lacks etc.) are contacted in order to make the grade. Most of our suppliers already informed us, that a pre-registration or a regular registration of all the relevant materials is in operation.

Grothe can declare that no Substances of the actually list dated 2020-09-28 of Very High Concern (SVHC) are intentionally used as a raw material in the process of manufacturing, which we supply to you.

Best regards

Grothe GmbH
