Dove Spiral

Approach barrier

Our Dove Spiral is an approach barrier that makes it difficult for pigeons and other unwelcome avian visitors to sit on balcony balustrades, ledges and sills. The great advantage of this type of barrier is the significantly reduced risk of injury compared with pigeon spikes. The base plates are simply mounted on the balustrade or sill at the required distance from each other. Snap in the steel spiral and the approach and landing barrier is ready to do its job! A friendly way of keeping pigeons away without pointy spikes.
