Mouse-Repellent

For keeping hungry mice and rats away

The species of mice and rats native to these parts of the world have excellent hearing. Compared with humans, the rodents can perceive tones of much higher pitches. Mice and rats communicate with each other using ultrasound. We can only hear their expressions of fear or anger. Gardigo uses this trait to fend off the nasty pests. Our Mouse-Repellent emits ultrasound inaudible to humans, but unpleasant for mice and rats. Eventually they will search for a quieter place.
